

Academic Writing for Research Purposes

Instructor: Elena Bazanova, Cand. of Sciences (TESOL), Assoc. Professor
Director of Language Training and Testing Center, MIPT
President of the Association of Academic Writing Experts “National Writing Centers Consortium”
Email: e_bazanova@phystech.edu

SPRING SEMESTER ASSIGNMENTS

NB! The spring semester assignments must be submitted to lttc.mipt.eng@gmail.com.
All assignments, unless otherwise indicated by the instructor, must be completed in accordance with the calendar.

Assignment #1: COURSERA Certificate of completion of the “Scholarly Communication” course.
Assignment #2: Draft of the M&M section of a research article
Assignment #3: Draft of the Results section of a research article
Assignment #4: Draft of the Discussion/Conclusion section of a research article
Assignment #5: Draft of the Manuscript section of a research article, including metadata, highlights, abstract, references.

No assignments will be accepted after their deadlines. No exceptions. It is in the best interest of the student not to submit a late assignment.

Successful Completion:

Students will be awarded a grade (1-10) when they meet/fulfill the following requirements:

- Complete all writing assignments as scheduled on the syllabus.
- Actively participate in classroom discussions when we meet via Zoom.
- Maintain satisfactory attendance in Zoom at or above 85%. Attendance will be recorded at the beginning or end of each class meeting. Zoom meetings will not be recorded.

Attendance Policy:

Students are expected to attend class via Zoom regularly and on time. Be prepared to actively participate in class. This means leading discussions, asking questions, giving your informed opinions, and interactively listening to others. Be prepared to share your screen via the Zoom platform.

Participant Code of Conduct:

To promote a classroom environment conducive to learning, please do not distract others. This includes not using cell phones during class time unless condoned by the instructor. All students are expected to adhere to common courtesy guidelines.

Scholastic Honesty:

Scholastic honesty is expected and required. All work submitted for this class must be your own. Copying or representing the work of anyone else (in print or from another student) is plagiarism and cheating.

You MUST identify and cite your sources whenever you use the following:

- Direct quotations
- Paraphrases and summaries of information not commonly known
- Borrowed ideas
- Facts that are not common knowledge

